TANISHAA MUKERJI

Stylish space

THE party was on at Atelier, InterContinental Marine Drive's new banquet space with the Arabian Sea as backdrop and also the glistening Queen's Necklace. Encapsulating the spirit of Mumbai's art deco heritage in a space that is stylish, regal and cosy, you could see that it befits both corporate and personal events. Actor Tanishaa Mukerji, looking lovely indeed was there on opening night to celebrate the success of her Stamp, a charitable institution to make India green. Guests admired this banquet space that promises to recalibrate their understanding of luxury, with lattice mirror works, an art deco themed bar and mood lighting that ranges from sparkling chandeliers to warm candles. The talk was that from weddings to cocktail soirees, brunches to birthdays, Atelier can transform itself into a venue appropriate for the occasion. Manas Krishnamoorthy, GM, InterContinental Marine Drive was there as the happy host to welcome guests like Juhi Chawla.

PLUS-SIZE MODEL

Plus points

THE buzz on the fashion front in the city is that Lakmé Fashion Week Winter/Festive 2016 in association with aLL: The Plus Size Store will host the first-ever plus-size show for men and women, styled by Shilpa Chavan of Little Shilpa. It is felt that creations showcased on runways are meant for everyday consumers who seek high-fashion designer wear but are often restricted by available size options. Yes, they are going to break thought patterns this season by presenting a unique collection at the fashion week next month. It is believed that fashion should cater to all body types. So, all confident plus-sized male and females (waist 34 inches upwards for women and 40 inches upwards for men) can try their luck at the auditions at St. Regis on July 29 from 12 p.m. They are instructed to dress in black or any solid colour clothing. And females should carry their own stilettos/heels.
